

Elan 23

Elan, the sofa with its small size, extraordinary comfort and rigorous lines make it suitable for use in domestic spaces and public lounges. This year, the 1999 version with a slender base structure in metal has been flanked by a model with a bevelled platform base, alongside new elements that enrich the modular version. The variety of upholstery available, including fabric, leather and faux leather from the Cappellini collection, makes this comfortable, classic and timeless sofa highly customisable, like every Morrison project.
