

Hiroi

Born of the collaboration between two of the most promising young designers from Eastern Europe, the Hiroi armchair features a structure made of black-stained massive ash, while the seat and the backrest, both with a very curved shape, are entirely upholstered with leather in five different color shades. Light, well-balanced and extremely comfortable, Hiroi is characterized by a very elegant and timeless design, which makes it perfect for any context. The use of two simple yet refined materials such as wood and leather gives this product an absolute visual pureness, actually concealing an excellent production expertise.
