Bluff Chair

Designed by Hlynur Atlason
Date 2022

Indoor-outdoor, comfortable, and sustainably made, the Bluff Chair checks all the boxes for modern living. Heller partnered with Icelandic designer Hlynur Atlason to design this piece, which is offered in a palette of warm colors that harmonize with the natural environment.

Like a coastal formation where the sea has carved shapes into the rocks, the Bluff Chair is as much about what is there as what is not. Set on a curved tripod base, this sculptural, modern design features a scooped seat that comfortably holds the body in a relaxed but supported position. “By working carefully with angles and proportions, we’re able to create an experience where you’re no longer aware of the chair when you’re seated,” says Hlynur. “You’re comfortable and relaxed and free to think about other things.” The Bluff Chair is made with a high percentage of recycled post-consumer plastic (the exact percentage varies by color, with black having the highest percentage).

Made in USA and 100% recyclable. The seat has a drainage hole to prevent pooling.
